You can help save the places that support our way of life

A Thirty-Two Year Legacy of Land Conservation

Is your business interested in helping to celebrate and maintain Virginia's unique places and landscapes?

Virginia's landscapes - its farms, forests, mountains, rivers, and streams - are a big part of why people live and work here. Businesses, both large and small, are playing a role in helping us ensure that we can help families conserve their land. They are helping us to protect our open spaces, agricultural lands, natural areas, and cultural heritage - all the beautiful resources Virginia is known for.

You, too, can participate in this and simultaneously raise your business profile as an annual LTV business sponsor.

Founded in 1992, the Land Trust of Virginia (LTV) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit land conservation organization that partners with private landowners who wish to voluntarily and permanently protect and preserve their working farmland or natural lands, which have scenic, historic, or ecological value. We all benefit from these spaces and the places that will remain undeveloped forever.

LTV by the numbers: Holds 267 conservation easements, protecting over 34,000 acres across 35 counties.

Sponsors receive high visibility with a coveted audience. LTV has a large audience of supporters and friends throughout our operating region in Northern Virginia and beyond. This group includes farmers, landowners, equestrians, conservationists, outdoor sports enthusiasts, tourists and visitors, and thousands of regional residents who appreciate the value of open space and land conservation.

There are many high-profile opportunities to customize your partnership with LTV. As a result, your business can develop a marketing strategy that connects with people throughout the year.

Please review the attached document, which outlines Benefit Levels, and then let's talk and see what opportunity works best for your company!
